

SUGAR AGAIN UP.

Refiners Have Made an Advance of 5c. Per Cwt.

STORAGE EGGS STRONGER.

Packed Butter is Weaker in Price, But No Change is Noted Locally in Any Line.

There has been an advance of five cents per cwt. in the wholesale price of sugar, the trust evidently not seeing dividends large enough to suit them. The reported war between the big refiners and dealers did not materialize in much relief to the ordinary consumer. This advance has not and will not affect local retail prices.

Reports are that holders of storage eggs are in a combine to keep the prices up and an advance of one cent a dozen is noted in the larger cities. The supply of fresh eggs is not nearly adequate to meet the demand, in spite of the fact that there have been little or no severe weather. Fresh eggs sell in Canton higher than in any city in the state, and even storage eggs bring 24 cents.

Holders of packed butter are becoming anxious to unload. The continued open weather allows cows to run on pasture and this with the creamery products makes it hard to dispose of storage butter except at reduced prices. No changes are noted in retail prices in the Canton markets either in produce or standard groceries.

Another Electric Road.

Sharon, Pa., Dec. 6.—An electric street railway from Erie to Pittsburgh is within the bounds of not only possibility but probability. The Erie-Cambridge line is now in operation and doing a thriving business. A line is under construction from Cambridge Springs to Meadville, and the survey of a road has been made from Meadville to Conneaut lake, and from the latter place to Sharpville,

A PRIEST'S MONUMENT.

Placed in the Cemetery While He Lives.

The Great Granite Block is One of the Largest in the United States.

Doylestown, O., Dec. 6.—Father Lindemith, who is still living and resides here, has exercised the good judgment of placing his monument in the Catholic cemetery at Dunganon while he yet lives. This handsome and massive monument was recently placed in the cemetery by Cleveland parties and it is supposed to be the largest granite block in the county. It was shipped to Kensington by rail and then conveyed to the cemetery at Dunganon on a vehicle constructed for the purpose and it required twenty-four horses to pull the monument on level ground and when a hill was reached the appliance known as blocks and tackle had to be used. It took three weeks to move the huge granite block from Kensington to Dunganon, a distance of four miles. The lettering on the monument is made on a bronze plate which is firmly set in the granite. Father Lindemith was born and reared near Dunganon and since his young manhood he has been doing church work as priest in the Catholic denomination. He is a learned and a pious man. He is rich in knowledge and pure in heart.

LIVES WITH A BROKEN NECK.

Injured Carpenter Will Be Subject to an X-Ray Examination.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—William Frank, a German carpenter living at 3437 Fifth avenue, lies in the Edgewood Union hospital with what is thought to be a broken neck. Monday afternoon while he was working on a building belonging to the Tassett Brewing company he fell from the roof to the ground, a distance of ten feet, alighting on his back and head. Frank was immediately taken to his home and was attended by Dr. Hector of 3673 State street, who made an examination of his injuries.

Yesterday afternoon his condition was considered dangerous and he was removed to the Union hospital. Dr. Bohart, the attending surgeon at the hospital, examined the injured man and at once said he thought the neck was broken. Dr. Bohart is making preparations for an X-ray examination, which he will make this morning. Frank is unable to move a muscle of his body and has subsisted upon liquid nourishment since the accident occurred.

TORTURE GROUND.

Strange Spot in Indiana Where Vegetation Refuses to Grow.

Auburn, Ind., Dec. 6.—Steuben county claims the distinction of being the only county in the state having a spot of land upon which vegetation absolutely refuses to grow, while the surrounding soil is apparently productive. This place is located about a mile south of the Michigan line and near Clear Lake, and is the subject of a strange tale told by many old settlers. In a grove at the head of the lake is a circle of earth about 15 feet in diameter, on which no vegetation will grow. The cause assigned by tradition for this is that this grove was the torture ground of the Bawwese Indians and that it was in this circle that the stake was set up. It is believed that the ashes of so many murdered human beings has rendered the place accursed and hence this dearth of vegetation.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Change in the Personnel of the P. C. & T. Railroad.

Youngstown, O., Dec. 6.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Toledo Railroad company, the following directors were elected: John K. Cowan, Baltimore; Henry W. Oliver, Pittsburgh; John E. McVey, Youngstown; Joseph Chapman, New York; General Orland Smith, Cincinnati; Thomas M. King, Pittsburgh; and G. W. Woolford, Baltimore. The directors organized by electing John K. Cowan, president; C. W. Woolford, secretary; J. P. McNeal, treasurer; G. W. Booth, auditor.

The Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Toledo railroad is under lease to the Pittsburgh and Western.

MUST DISGORGE.

Government Officials Going After Pools That Got Brown's Money.

Newport, Ky., Dec. 6.—The United States grand jury is engaged in taking testimony in the case of Frank M. Brown, late assistant cashier of the German National bank of Newport, who is charged with embezzling $181,000 of the bank's funds. Among the witnesses summoned are some known to have knowledge of Brown's losses of money at poolrooms and other places. Receiver Tucker is authority for the statement that the government will undertake to follow the money lost and spent by Brown and recover it from the persons benefited by Brown's lavish use of the money belonging to the bank.

Lavada, Dec. 6.—The czar's physician announces today that the patient is completely convalescent.

Nerves Wear Out

And grow weak and exhausted when not properly nourished, just as an engine loses its power when the fuel runs low. The loss of nervous power is seen in the failing health and the wasting form. It is felt in the aching head, the throbbing heart, the irritability, indigestion, restlessness and loss of sleep. Rebuild the worn-out nerves, rest the tired brain and add new fuel to the vital fires with the best of all tonics, Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"I was sick with typhoid and malarial fever for three months, and after I recovered from that I was left so weak and nervous that I could not work. I fairly shook all over, and in eating I could hardly hold a fork steady enough to feed myself. I started to take Dr. Miles' Nervine, and received immediate benefits. Three bottles of it cured me." T. F. RICHARDSON, E. Alton, Ill.

FEUD IS RAGING.

Democratic Editor Making Things Quite Warm.

FOR A FORMER OFFICIAL.

Knight of the Quill Claims to Have Found Discrepancies in an Ex-Official's Accounts.

Special to News-Democrat.

Carrollton, Dec. 4.—This city is at present stirred up over a war that is going on between Joseph V. Lawler, editor of the Chronicle, and George S. Tinslin, ex-auditor of the county.

In September a new auditor went into office. Since his advent, not only he, but Editor Lawler and a number of others, with detective proclivities, have been pouring over the auditor's books and stubs and making comparisons between stubs and entries, with the hope of finding something that will reflect against the ex-auditor, it is said.

Pay dirt was struck early in the prospecting. It is reported. There is said to be a stub on the order book for $1,500, and another for which no amount was found in the commissioner's journal. The investigation was carried further, and the Chronicle charged ex-auditor Tinslin with some very ugly things.

When the paper fell into Tinslin's hands he is said to have waxed angry. He threatened to thrash Lawler on sight, it is rumored.

After waiting some time, Tinslin got J. M. Westfall, another ex-auditor to accompany him to Lawler's home on Oak Hill. Tinslin's friends assert that he made the air lurid with a tirade of abuse and threats, which he is reported to have heaped upon the editor.

Tinslin claims to have told him that if he published anything further, derogatory to him, he could "prepare to meet his God."

Lawler is a member of the Catholic church. Tinslin is said to have referred to his religion in a rather uncompromising style. The ex-auditor is a Methodist, and the feud has got into the churches, it is said. Sunday night, the Methodist minister, in his sermon referred to the Catholics in rather severe terms, and it is said that the animus of the attack grew out of the fight between Lawler and Tinslin.

The last issue of the Chronicle was awaited with bated breath and a fever of anxiety. When it appeared, under scare-head lines, and in a double-column, was a statement of what Tinslin had drawn from the county during the last thirteen and one-half months he was in office. More than $5,000 was shown by the books, vouchers and stubs to have been the amount so drawn according to the Chronicle.

Tinslin met the last attack without any show of violence. Lawler was not sent to meet his maker.

The ex-auditor is tabulating a statement of explanation. He will seek redress through the columns of the Republican Standard.

Neither of the local Republican papers has very vigorously defended Mr. Tinslin. One has been silent, while the other has made only a feeble effort in his behalf.

Ex-auditor Tinslin is the cashier of a bank in this city. He is quite prominent in politics.

The undertakers have ceased to watch the contest with their first expectancy. It is now thought that no gore will be spilled.

KNOW BILL QUANTRILL.

Squire M. M. Young's Interesting Reminiscences.

USED TO LIVE IN CANAL DOVER

The Notorious Guerrilla Was a Leader Among the Boys at School.

Canton, Dec. 4, 1906.

Editor News-Democrat: I was much interested in the article published in the News-Democrat, Monday, November 26, headed "Mrs. Quantrill in Canal Dover." It brought to my mind many recollections of my boyhood days. I was born in Canal Dover and lived there until I was seventeen years old. My earliest recollections are of the Quantrill family.

My father made the brick for the school building that Thomas Quantrill taught in just before he died. I was going to school there at the time of his death. He was highly respected, and his death was mourned by parents and pupils, the whole school wore crepe for 30 days after his death.

I knew Thomas Quantrill's son, the famous guerrilla, Bill Quantrill well when he was a boy. He was three or four years older than I. He was one of the leaders of the boys of his age in all their plays and schoolboy pranks. He was a mischievous and had a rather adventurous nature. He liked sports of all kinds.

Once, I recollect, just after the first Indian show that came to Dover, he organized about 20 of the boys of his age into an Indian tribe, he being their chief. He had them dressed in Indian costumes and paraded the streets every Saturday for several months.

At another time, he and a son of Dr. McNeal's gathered together all their fathers' old books and had a lottery, selling the tickets for six marbles each. I drew several of the books. He and young McNeal were great cronies, often going nutting, fishing and hunting together. Once they ran a kite shop together in the doctor's barn. They made kites and sold or traded them to the other boys for anything they could get. Quantrill was, however, a good student and had a fair education when he left Dover, which, as near as I can recollect, was in the fall of '55. He was then about 20 or 21 years old. He had two brothers who, when they were boys, were noisier than Bill. One of them, I think, enlisted in the Union army.

When the Fifty-first infantry was organized in Canal Dover I heard many of the boys swear vengeance on Bill if they would ever catch him.

TWO RIOTERS SENTENCED.

One Goes to Reform Farm and the Other to the Pen.

Akron, Dec. 6.—Judge Kohler, late Wednesday afternoon sentenced two more men for participation in the riot of August 22 last. Both sentences were to the reformatory at Mansfield—Edwin Eppley, for five years, and William DeWitt, for one year. Later, on request of both DeWitt and his mother, the place of confinement for him was changed to the penitentiary.

He was convicted of rioting, while Eppley was tried for the unlawful possession and use of dynamite.

FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Mrs. McKinley Buying Christmas Presents in New York.

HER HUSBAND'S VICTORY

A Tonic—She Looks Years Younger Than She Did a Year Ago, According to the World.

New York World: Mrs. William McKinley is here to buy Christmas presents for the president of the United States and other members of the white house family. She appears to be in excellent health, with color in her cheeks and sparkling eyes. In her party was her physician, Dr. Rixey, who said:

"The president's re-election has proved the best tonic yet tried."

Mrs. McKinley looks years younger than when here a year ago. Since last summer she has gained ten pounds in weight, and delights to acquaint her friends with fact. The improvement was apparent when she alighted at the Jersey City Pennsylvania station from a private car yesterday at 3 p. m. Her step was brisk and she greeted her friends on the platform with animation. She was accompanied by her physician, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gates Dawes, her maid and a valet. Mrs. McKinley was attractively attired in a blue cloth traveling suit trimmed with gold braid, with bonnet to match.

On the platform to meet the mistress of the white house were Mrs. Garrett A. Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. Abner McKinley and William S. Hawk, proprietor of the Manhattan hotel, a Canton, (Ohio), man and an old time friend of the McKinley family, whose guest she will be while here as during previous visits to New York.

The party drove in Abner McKinley's carriage from the train to the Manhattan hotel the front of which was decorated in Mrs. McKinley's honor with American flags. By Mrs. McKinley's wish the entry to the hotel was made so quietly that even those who watched for her appearance did not know until afterward that she had arrived.

The "state suite" of the hotel had been prepared for Mrs. McKinley's reception. It is of six rooms on the first floor above the main entrance, parlor, dining room and four bedrooms. The bedrooms are across a hallway from the parlor and dining room. The hallway was festooned with smilax, each doorway being an arch of that green vine. On the grand piano in the parlor when the wife of the president entered was a large vase of pinks. In the dining room the table was laid for six, with choice silver and cut glass and a handsome floral centerpiece. At 7 o'clock Mrs. McKinley dined with several guests, among whom were the brother of the president and his wife.

Besides her own Christmas purchases Mrs. McKinley bears the president's commission to make many on his account. Some of these will find their way into the stockings of the members of the cabinet, while other will go to faithful employees in the white house.

Besides these duties Mrs. McKinley while here will have the pleasant task of trying on two handsome new gowns which lack only the finishing touches. These were ordered for white house functions. One is a heavy cream satin, with renaisance lace and black velvet trimmings. It will be worn for the first time at the New Year's reception.

Nobody has declined the Federal judgeship today. This is getting serious.
